Busy public places are usually the safest places to walk and play. When you are in quiet isolated places it is easier for strangers to approach you, talk to you or try to trick you without being seen or caught.

When you are not with a trusted adult you should avoid deserted streets, alleyways and any other places where you are not in full view of a busy public place.

Other high risk locations include .......

Isolated parks

Unfamiliar places or shortcuts

Woods & forests